WE BUY AVIONICS

Duncan Aviation will pay cash for good as-removed cores and serviceable avionics and instruments to support customers' current and future needs. Once overhauled, these units are placed into Duncan's Avionics Rotable Inventory.

Inventory Managers seek out and buy excess or surplus inventories of avionics units for all makes of business aircraft and helicopters, including modifications packages removed for avionics upgrades.

Email an Excel spreadsheet of your parts list, including part number to WeBuyAvionics@DuncanAviation.com.

VIRTUAL INVENTORY

Virtual Inventory is a collaboration between industry partners and Duncan Aviation to sell more parts. Companies that want to increase inventory sales and visibility – and take advantage of Duncan Aviation's channels to market – provide weekly inventory listings. These listings are included in company marketing efforts (both internal and external). Our 24/7/365 sales team acts on behalf of Virtual Inventory partners to professionally represent and effectively sell virtual inventories.

MANAGED ROTABLE INVENTORY

Duncan Aviation's Managed Rotable Inventory (MRI) Program allows customers, parts brokers, aircraft operators, aircraft sales organizations and/or vendors to stock their rotatable inventory with us and maintain full ownership while we manage every aspect of its exchange sales.

Duncan Aviation will warehouse, market, and ship your exchange inventory anywhere in the world, any time, day or night, while overseeing all the details of getting cores returned and tagged to be received back into stock to sell again.

NEW PARTS INVENTORY

Similar to the MRI Program, the New Parts Inventory (NPI) Program offers the resources to warehouse new condition inventory at Duncan Aviation and the experts to sell and ship these units through our extensive channels to markets all over the world.

Participants maintain inventory ownership, receive sales alerts when inventory sells, have the freedom to set pricing and restock levels, and can add to or remove inventory from their NPI pool as needed.

PARTS ACQUISITION & CONSIGNMENT

Since 1985, thousands of aircraft operators have cleaned out their hangars and earned millions of dollars by selling their new and surplus parts in the active aviation marketplace.

When you consign inventory with Duncan Aviation, we will market your inventory to the industry and to the more than 21,500 companies and 32,600 aircraft representing 192 countries in our customer database. Inventory is insured and warehoused by Duncan Aviation and we are responsible for collecting payments. Consigner proceeds are paid quarterly.
